

Garda Trentino sports profile

The lake for emotions, the sun for vanity, the mountain for the spirit outdoor training ground.

The ideal territory for sports-livers and -lovers: active wellbeing for beginners and outdoor sports enthusiasts. Mountain-bike trails covering differences in altitude of more than 2000 metres, constant winds of different intensities - including the Ora and the Peler - for windsurf or sailing trips full of excitement, equipped walls for sports climbing, via ferratas for beginners and experts. Alongside these activities, plenty of well-designed and welcoming accommodation facilities as well as services to suit all sports fans: experience your active holiday in Garda Trentino!!

100 sports...
just a step away!

Within a radius of just 15 km, sports locations of worldwide renown: Riva del Garda and Torbole sul Garda, capitals of sailing and windsurfing; Arco, the fatherland of climbing and Nordic walking; but also Tenno, Dro, Drena and Nago with footpaths, cliffs and via ferratas;

and then a whole network of trails for mountain-biking and cycling. A natural gym where to practise these and many other sports, including paragliding, canyoning, horse riding and trekking: the choice is yours!

sports and landscape: the perfect equation

Garda Trentino, “Eldorado” of active holidays, where the landscape suspended between the lake and the mountains makes all the difference. Breathtaking views, picture-postcard scenery: the magical world of rock climbing along sheer faces over the lake, cycling from 65 to over 2000 m a.s.l., or sailing on a lake surrounded by the mountains and driven by constant winds. Doing sports is great fun and fills you with enthusiasm... and doing sports in Garda Trentino becomes a unique, yet fully repeatable experience.

sailing, windsurf, climbing and biking:excellent performances

Any sport can be done to the highest levels, thanks to our excellent natural infrastructure. High climbing walls set challenges for even the most adventurous climbers with tough cliff faces full of outcrops, angles and chinks.

The Peler and the Ora blow strong, driving skippers and surfers out onto the water. Rough trails with plenty of hills put the most audacious bikers to the test. Sport at Garda Trentino: challenge yourself... it's pure adrenaline!!!

sport at Garda Trentino: a 360° combination!

Water, wind, rocks and land, 365 days a year.
The lake waters have beneficial effects on the climate, which is always mild and pleasant even in winter.
The winds blow constantly throughout the year to offer boat trips and windsurfing opportunities any time.
The compact rock offers perfect ledges and crevices.
The land lies on slopes from 65 to 2000 m a.s.l.
Garda Trentino: a natural training ground for your activities and fun, all year round.

solo or guided: schools, instructors, equipment

The grand masters of sport have put Garda Trentino to the test, and have passed its outdoor activities with flying colours. Some of them have decided to settle here, and from here they share their secrets: a unique value of this territory, which can guarantee lessons with the best professionals in specialist schools for each activity, as well as hire services for the most advanced sports equipment. Particular attention to the young champions of tomorrow, with sports, activities and special courses designed specifically for children: open air entertainment, to enjoy sports alone or with your family.

a tournament of events

Garda Trentino is famous for its great sports events, which every year attract professionals and enthusiasts from all over the world:

the Bike Festival, which kick-starts the season for all 2-wheeler fans;
the Outdoor Days, the great container of all outdoor sports;
the SurFestival, for sailboard fans;
the Jeantex Bike Transalp, the MTB great challenge through the Alps;
the Rock Master, one of the most important events in the free climbing calendar;
the sailing and windsurfing regattas, with world and European championships of the highest level.

The Places, the Seasons, the Schools, the Proposals

100% pure sailing

The winds that blow regular make every day the perfect day for a trip out in a boat. The waves, never overly large, are suited to both expert skippers and beginners.

Lake Garda is renowned as one of the best Italian regatta locations, and is as good as any of the great international sailing circuits.

Great attention is paid to safety, which is assured by an efficient rescue service.

winds

Pelèr or Vent del Sarca: permanent wind which blows from the north and lasts 12 hours, extending across most of the lake's surface and joining or feeding other winds. In good weather it starts blowing from the evening until 10:00 and 11:00 a.m. First it blows in the northern and middle part of the lake; at sunrise and in the summer months it becomes much stronger, extending across the whole surface; offshore it can reach the speed of 12-15 m/s. It usually brings good weather but, if it arises at the wrong time, as it can happen in winter, it brings bad weather.

Ora: permanent wind which blows from the south, which usually develops in the centre of the lake between 12:00 and 1.00 p.m., after the Pelèr drops, until sunset. It is not as violent as the Pelèr and in fact it never blows faster than 8-10 m/s. This is the wind that has made the Upper Garda very famous in the sailing world.

Vineza or Vinesa: this wind comes from the south of the lake; it is created by the Bora wind when it reaches Lake Garda coming from the Upper Adriatic Sea. It's usually a strong wind and brings changing weather within the next 24 hours. It can last the whole day.

Bali or Balinot: it comes down from Mount Ballino, situated in the north-western part of Riva. It isn't very frequent, but in winter you can usually find it after a sudden drop of temperature. It can travel at a speed of 20 m/s and it often causes big waves - bigger than Pelèr's.

Ponale or Ponalot: it comes from the Ponale Valley in the west and blows in the evening and at night and occasionally in the morning. Along the eastern coast it's not so strong. It joins the Pelèr and can sometimes bring bad weather; in this case it becomes violent and dangerous.

100% pure canyoning

Do you need powerful emotions? If so, Garda Trentino is perfect for you: throw yourself headfirst into the torrents which descend from the mountains towards the lake. Do it, but together with a guide from the canyoning centre, which organizes daily trips during the nice season. Canyoning is possible on Lake Garda and also in the Ledro Valley. The routes are only known to few people because the guides are possessive over them! Put on a wetsuit, a helmet and a harness, and brave the fast Trentino torrents which are immersed within the woods, flowing between rocks to meet small lakes unknown even to those who live here.

The Autonomous Province of Trento equips, takes care of, and periodically checks the climbing areas mentioned above. In the Garda Trentino territory there are many other climbing areas, equipped by experts but not officially and regularly taken care of.

It is advisable to always check the state of the walls' equipment before using them. It is advisable to always use a helmet to protect you from injury in falls and from falling debris. Climbing involves certain risks and climbers must be responsible enough to know and respect the correct basic safety rules and use the proper safety gear. The above list is merely a collection of information, with no technical or safety purposes. Ingarda Trentino takes no responsibility for the contents, accuracy or completeness of these pages.

100% pure bike

From cross country to free riding, from road cycling to downhill, without forgetting the easier bike trekking: at Garda Trentino, your bike is your steed, 12 months a year. The departure points lie at 60 m a.s.l. and reach peaks of more than 2000 metres, offering slopes and trails for all kinds of bikers, all with a high adrenaline content. Many cycle paths offer relaxing itineraries for cycle tourists.

mountain bike

Freeride/Downhill

Garda Trentino is a favourite location for freeriders and downhillers from all over the world: challenging paths, immersed in the green of nature, with endless technical descents that start on mountain tops at over 2000 m a.s.l. and career down to the shores of Lake Garda. There is a wide range of possibilities and degrees of difficulty: from the “heavy-going” downhill/freeride, with bike-shuttle services, to the “pedal” where the only help you are going to get is your own legs!

X-Country

Both for professional bikers seeking the best place for training, and for excursionists who enjoy being in contact with nature, Garda Trentino offers fabulous itineraries with breathtaking views and spectacular mountains all waiting to be explored, such as the Baldo and Monte Velo. Old mule tracks, military routes, forest paths and mountain refuges will take you into another dimension, far from the chaos of traffic and the stress of everyday life.

Bike Trekking

Bike trekking is the ideal activity for those who are not seeking taxing routes and exhausting climbs, but who wish to include all the family, the children and the odd friend who, although well-disposed, may not be in top form. Garda Trentino is the right place in which to enjoy a fabulous, healthy, interesting and exhilarating day dedicated to cycling, experience nature, meet people, savour the local flavours and get a bit of exercise!

road cycling

For the lovers of this sport, Garda Trentino offers excellent opportunities to pass unforgettable moments astride the saddle, enjoying the many and varied roads suitable for cycle touring and road cycling, alternating between the flat and the hilly.

The Upper Garda area is, as always, the ideal place for many professional teams. Champions such as Chiappucci, Fondriest and Moser have pedalled along our roads, practising their racing tactics. There are many ideal circuits: the famous “S. Barbara” climb, or the climbs towards Tenno and the Passo del Ballino and the tortuous bends of Drena with the Marocche biotope.

Thanks to the particularly favourable climatic conditions of the area this sport can be practised all year round.

Trekking Highlights

“Old Ponale road” path (Riva del Garda)

One follows via Gargnano from the centre of Riva towards Limone. On the right side, before the tunnel, starts the “old Ponale road” path which is now a cycle/pedestrian path; from there one can enjoy a marvellous view over Lake Garda. After a 2-hour easy walk one reaches the village of Pregasina or after the fork towards Pregasina, along the path “Via del Ponale”, one arrives at Lake Ledro (4 hours - 11 Km).

Busatte Park – Tempesta (Torbole sul Garda)

The breathtaking walk with view over the lake starts from the Busatte Park and wings for 4 km. This semi level route all along the hillside gets over 2 ridges: Corno di Bò and Salt de la Cavra, which are connected by a 400-step iron staircase and leads you to Tempesta on the lake (4 km; about 1 hour and a half from Busatte Park).

Bosco Caproni (Arco)

Amidst stately stone quarries and uncontaminated nature, this is the ideal surroundings for reclaiming your spirit. An area of great environmental interest, rich in historical and artistic findings, with “natural art works” which are part of the “Sculpture Park Drena 3000” permanent exhibition.

The vegetation is chiefly characterised by holm oak, black pine and chestnut woods. There are over 400 species of flora, and over 100 varieties of animal species. There are numerous geological findings representing vestiges of glaciations and karst phenomena.

Trek of History: the Emperor's Fortresses

1) Riva del Garda: the Mount Brione forts

In 1852, the General Staff of the Austro-Hungarian Empire started building forts to guard the northern coast of Lake Garda, calling it the "Festung Abschnitt" i.e. the fortified sector of Riva del Garda. Mount Brione stands at the centre of this network of forts: Fort S. Nicolò (1860-1862) is close to the lake, Fort S. Alessandro (1881) is on the mountain's peak, Fort Batteria di Mezzo (1900), Fort Garda (1907). The location also preserves the visible remains of the communication trenches, observation posts, combat trenches and military roads. The itinerary starts at Port S. Nicolò in Riva del Garda and proceeds along the Peace Path.

Difference of level:
300 m

Overall time:
2 hours 15 minutes

Difficulty level:
T (for everyone)

2) S. Giovanni - Cima Rocca

Biacesa – S. Giovanni church – Rocca path (war tunnels) – Rocca peak or the Sperone Bocca Pasumer – Biacesa

The climb to the Rocca peak (Cima Rocca) is one of the most interesting itineraries for pundits of field fortifications built during the war, where you can admire the breathtaking view of Lake Garda: the tunnel system "Alto Garda" on Sperone.

Starting in Biacesa, the itinerary climbs up to the Caregna junction and then turns onto the mule path posted as SAT No. 417 up to the small church of S. Giovanni. By following the Rocca path you reach the entrance to the first tunnel, the tour continues along the network of tunnels up to the path that leads to the peak of Sperone or Cima Rocca. From there: a) one can descend north along the equipped path that ends on the western slope; b) from the peak one can return back to the entrance to the third tunnel and come out through the mountain along the trenches that join the previous route. Then one descends to Bocca Pasumer and returns to Biacesa.

Difference of level:
700 m

Overall time:
4 hours

Difficulty level:
EEA (excursion for equipped experts)

3) Tagliata del Ponale (itinerary accessible only on specific occasions)

Tagliata del Ponale is a fortification tunnel-system consisting in a complex of corridors and trenches excavated directly above Lake Garda in a unique panoramic location in the years 1904-1918. It can be reached from Riva del Garda following the "old Ponale road". The undoubtedly most spectacular artefact of the fortification is the long flight of steps that descends from the third tunnel towards lake level. The steps end a few metres above lake level with four large apertures towards Lake Garda: two posts opening outwards for cannons and two observation posts. The rock complex is very intricate and includes arms and ammunition rooms, service areas, a medication room and food storage locales.

Difference of level:
100 m

Overall time:
1 hour 30 minutes

Difficulty level:
E (excursionists)

4) Trat-Saval-Pernici on the Riccabona path

Bocca di Trat, the mountain pass connecting Valle di Ledro with the Lower Sarca area, was guarded by the Austro-Hungarian army. The itinerary starts at Malga Trat, reached on the paved road from Val Concei. The "delle vacche" (cows') path departs from the Caret peak (1805 m), where remarkable war trench remains, barracks and a few tunnels are still visible. After Tomeabrù, one turns back towards Bocca Saval, this was the site of the Command headquarters of the Austrian sector, of a field hospital and the arrival point of various ca-bleways from Campi to Malga Grassi. One reaches the Pernici refuge, after passing by various communication trenches and war barracks. The return to Bocca di Trat is along the main road leading to the bottom of the valley.

Difference of level:
350 m

Overall time:
2 hours 45 minutes

Difficulty level:
E (excursionists)

5) Mount Altissimo

On Mount Altissimo, in the Baldo range, was settled the Austrian army with its first line in the areas of Malga Zures, Doss Casina and Dosso Alto. There are two options from Nago: a) from the town of Nago, drive to Malga Zures, where the Austro-Hungarian tunnels can be visited. From there, proceed on foot to Dosso Alto, Doss Casina, from where one returns towards Malga Zures along the Peace Path; b) drive up to Prati di Nago, continue on foot to the peak of Mount Altissimo where it is possible to view the field defences of the Italian army.

Difference of level:
itinerary a) m. 300
itinerary b) m. 530

Overall time:
itinerary a) 3 hours
itinerary b) 2 hours 30 minutes

The Places, the Seasons, the Schools, the Proposals

100% pure windsurf

Driven by the Ora or the Pelèr, windsurfing in Upper Garda is good for beginners and experts alike.

Riva del Garda, but above all Torbole sul Garda, are the most famous locations for “riding down the wind”, also thanks to the quality services available: schools and equipment hire of the highest quality, letting you have fun in total safety.

For years, these areas have played host to important international events, including the SurFestival, which attract surfers from all over Europe.

winds

Pelèr or Vent del Sarca: permanent wind which blows from the north and lasts 12 hours, extending across most of the lake's surface and joining or feeding other winds. In good weather it starts blowing from the evening until 10:00 and 11:00 a.m. First it blows in the northern and middle part of the lake; at sunrise and in the summer months it becomes much stronger, extending across the whole surface; offshore it can reach the speed of 12-15 m/s. It usually brings good weather but, if it arises at the wrong time, as it can happen in winter, it brings bad weather.

Ora: permanent wind which blows from the south, which usually develops in the centre of the lake between 12:00 and 1.00 p.m., after the Pelèr drops, until sunset. It is not as violent as the Pelèr and in fact it never blows faster than 8-10 m/s. This is the wind that has made the Upper Garda very famous in the sailing world.

Vineza or Vinesa: this wind comes from the south of the lake; it is created by the Bora wind when it reaches Lake Garda coming from the Upper Adriatic Sea. It's usually a strong wind and brings changing weather within the next 24 hours. It can last the whole day.

Bali or Balinot: it comes down from Mount Ballino, situated in the north-western part of Riva. It isn't very frequent, but in winter you can usually find it after a sudden drop of temperature. It can travel at a speed of 20 m/s and it often causes big waves - bigger than Pelèr's.

Ponale or Ponalot: it comes from the Ponale Valley in the west and blows in the evening and at night and occasionally in the morning. Along the eastern coast it's not so strong. It joins the Pelèr and can sometimes bring bad weather; in this case it becomes violent and dangerous.
